Memorial Day - May 25, 2015

This Memorial Day, we pause to honor the courageous men and women of our nation's military who have given their lives to protect the freedoms and our form of Government in these United States. We remember these brave souls. We honor and salute them, not only on this special day, but every day. To those they left behind, we will never forget and will continue to appreciate the freedoms they fought to preserve. Their sacrifice will never be in vain.
